SUIT

AGAINST MRS. ADA THOMAS ENDS ABRUPTLY

JURY DISMISSED AND CASE IS TO BE TRIED LATER.

AN UNEXPECTED TURN IS TAKEN

Members of Jury State They Were Convinced There Was a Conspiracy Against Newark Woman.

Chicago, March 21.—The sensational trial of the divorce suit of Harold Thomas, son of the millionaire railroad magnate, General Samuel Thomas of New York, against Ada Blandy Thomas, his wife, formerly of Newark, was brought to an abrupt close this morning when Judge Bishop granted the plea of Attorney McShane counsel for the plaintiff, that the jury be dismissed and the case continued indefinitely on the ground that the body had been prejudiced by statements of counsel for the defense and by statements in the public press.

The members of the jury after the dismissal, said they were convinced that the woman was the victim of a conspiracy and they were ready to return a verdict in her favor. Mrs. Thomas will go home and await the calling of a new trial.

The charge of an attempt to suborn perjured testimony in the Thomas divorce trial was the sensation sprung by the attorneys for the defense yesterday.

A sharp legal battle over the admission of testimony of Charles (Doc) McKinney, named as co-respondent in the bill of complaint, who was brought on as a witness by the defense, elicited a strong statement from Attorney Burry. He said an attempt was made by the plaintiff to bribe witnesses to testify against the character of Mrs. Thomas.

"We will show," said Mr. Burry, "that Dr. McFatrick, Captain Williams and H. I. Cleveland tried to induce McKinney to admit he had unlawful relations with Mrs. Thomas."

"Do you mean there was an attempt to bribe the witness?" asked the Court.

"Yes. I mean that money was offered in an attempt to secure testimony against Mrs. Thomas," answered Mr. Burry.

The Court barred the testimony, however, and then followed a series of futile efforts on the part of the defense to introduce testimony showing the connection between McFatrick, Williams, Cleveland, a man named Bonebrake, living in Columbus, and a reporter on a Columbus paper named George Goulding, and in this way establish proof of bribery and conspiracy.

Every question from Mr. Burry was met by objections from Attorney McShane, objections which were sustained with mechanical regularity by the Court. These rebuffs finally drew forth another startling statement from Mr. Burry. He said: "We will prove that Dr. McFatrick solicited the witness to admit undue familiarity with Mrs. Thomas; that he told him General Thomas, the father of the plaintiff, would take his son back if he secured a divorce."

This sensational statement caused another legal tilt. The first witness called after some time had been taken up with depositions from General and Mrs. Thomas, was Joseph [illegible], a reporter for the Columbus Dispatch, who testified that the neighborhood in which Mrs. Thomas lived had been the best in Columbus until the encroachments of saloons into the district in recent years had injured it somewhat.

He was asked regarding the character of Lester Clover, the cabman, who made damaging charges against Mrs. Thomas earlier in the week.

"It is bad," said the witness.

"Do you regard him as veracious?"

"No, sir."

"Would you believe him under oath?"

"No."

An attempt to shake Phelan's testimony on the cross-examination failed signally. He was asked if there were a great many cabmen in Columbus. He admitted that there might be over 100.

"Do you know Clover better than any of these other cabmen?"

"I know some other cabmen better than Clover, and there are many I do not know so well. But I know Clover's reputation better than I do that of any other cabman there."

"Doc" McKinney followed Phelan on the witness stand, and denied that he had ever been a co-respondent with Mrs. Thomas. He also said that he had never known Mrs. Thomas to drink intoxicating liquors of any kind.

The effort made by the defense to secure the admission of McKinney's testimony regarding the alleged attempts made by McFatrick and Cleveland to get him to testify falsely against Mrs. Thomas having been overruled by the Court McKinney was excused until the position of McFatrick in the case could be more clearly established.

Two objections raised served to frustrate the attempt. One was that the plaintiff could not be bound personally by the acts of his agents, and that the other was that neither Dr. McFatrick, Captain Williams, Bonebrake nor Cleveland had been witnesses for the prosecution.

Mrs. Thomas was then put upon the stand in her own behalf. She denied specifically the statements of the previous witnesses that she had ever drunk any liquor at the times and places named, and maintained moreover that she was a teetotaler.

She also denied that she had been found in a compromising attitude with her brother-in-law by her husband and all the statutory charges made against her.

She told of having gone on the advice of the husband to Dr McFatrick for treatment for certain ailments, and said Dr. McFatrick had performed an operation upon her.

All during the time she was on the stand the attorneys were in a wrangle over the evidence, the bitterness between the two sides growing with each clash.

Mrs. Thomas's direct testimony was closed by the introduction and identification by her of a letter she wrote to her husband in which she announced her willingness to live with him again. It read as follows:

"Dear Harold: I received your letter last Wednesday and sent reply by telegram Saturday evening. After due consideration have concluded we would be much happier living our lives together with our little daughter than separated. But it must be understood, dear, that you will not allow any one to wreck our lives again, and that we must have trust and confidence in each other in the future. With much love from self and baby. Your affectionate wife, "ADAH."

Attorney Burry said there was a possibility of the case lasting over until next week, as he is determined to make a hard fight for the introduction of the evidence showing conspiracy and attempted bribery.

ADMITS

HE SET THE HOTEL ON FIRE SEVERAL TIMES

PYROMANIAC CALMLY TELLS THE POLICE HIS PURPOSE

WAS TO OBTAIN CASH REWARDS

For Potting Fires Out—Officers Suspected Him and He Was Arrested Today.

New York, March 21.—The police today arrested Edward J. Farley, an elevator attendant at the Astor House, who confesses that he is a pyromaniac. Farley who was arrested for setting fire to the Astor House twice yesterday, confessed to Fire Marshal Frey that he had set fire to the Astor House no less than nine times. He had also set fire to ten other places in this city. Farley said that he had ignited the Grand Union Hotel once in Saratoga. He said that his purpose was to put the fire out after it had been started and then secure a reward. He was suspected by the police because of the fact that he was always on the spot where the fires broke out. He is held without bail.

Fire today damaged the Erie, Pa., Lithograph company about $60,000.

Bubonic plague has broken out in different parts of Arabia.

HERESY

THE CHARGE MADE AGAINST REV. DR. LOUTHER.

MINISTER CLAIMS THE SERPENT WAS A MAN,

AND BELONGED TO SAME RACE

As Adam and Eve—Doctrines Taught by Him Are Considered Atheistic and Trial Is Set.

McPherson, Kan., March 21.—Rev Granville Louther, D. D., was served with papers at a Methodist conference here charging him with heresy, and setting forth that he would be tried at Arkansas City, Kan., on March 26 Rev Mr. Louther is charged with being guilty "of disseminating doctrines contrary to and subversive of the doctrines of the Methodist Episcopal church," and it is alleged that he is "atheistic and evolutionistic."

Rev. Louther is charged with making and teaching the following doctrines in violation of the confession of faith and the catechism. "That the serpent who talked to Eve was a man, one of the race to which she and Adam belonged; that he had not come into a consciousness of God, therefore was classed with beasts, and that there were other inhabitants or members of the race; if not, how did Cain find his wife in the land of Nod, where none of Adam's children except Cain had gone; if not, whence came the daughters of men whom the sons of God took for their wives? The reasonable interpretation is that the descendants of Adam were called sons of God, because, having entered into a conscious knowledge of Gad, they would claim Him as their Creator and worship Him. The others, now knowing God, were called sons and daughters of men.

"That Adam and Eve as first created had no moral perception of their obligations of obedience; that in eating from the fruit tree of God, and evident that they had done nothing except what others about them were doing, and what they themselves had formerly done, that is, like beasts, but they had a higher vision of spiritual things than formerly and consequently they felt guilt.

"That Christ died for men to show men how to die for man; that this willingness to die for man should be multiplied by exactly the number of disciples of Christ and that the atonement can never be accepted until this idea prevails."

Mr. Louther has been identified for years with the Kansas State Holiness Association as its President. He believes that in religion as well as in world building, God is proceeding from lower to higher forms, and that this process must continue in the future as it has in the past. He also contends that creeds are valuable only as landmarks; says that lack of freedom for the soul is like compressing a woman's waist in corsets to compel it to grow according to a certain fashionable ideal, and declares that religion can never reach the fullness of naturalness until it is free from fear of persecution for its highest and holiest concepts.

WEALTHY MAN

Found Dead Near Ft. Recovery With Bullet Hole in Head—Tony Tincher of Celina.

Fort Recovery, O., March 21.—The dead body of Tony Tircher of Celina, Ohio, was found one-half mile east of here along the railroad track this morning. A revolver with two empty shells lay at his side and there was a [illegible] hole in his temple. The dead man was in a ditch, his head being under water. Tircher was a wealthy business man of Celina and heavily interested in the Home Telephone company.

ACCUSED

OF CRACKING FOUR SAFES AT CENTERBURG

ANDERSON LANDED IN JAIL AT PITTSBURG TODAY.

HAS MANY CHARGES TO ANSWER

The Prisoner Was an Expert in the Office of the Mosler Safe Company for Years.

A Scripps-McRae telegram received at noon from Pittsburg says that Harry Anderson, safe cracker, arrested at Johnstown, Pa., is suspected of the safe blowing at Centerburg just over the Licking county line in Knox county. The dispatch follows:

Pittsburg, March 21.—Harry J. Anderson, one of the most desperate and notorious postoffice robbers and safe crackers in the United States, was brought to the Allegheny county jail this morning, from Johnstown, Pa., where he was arrested by Postoffice Inspector J. F. Oldfield, Deputy Marshal George S. Owen and a posse. He was caught in bed and could not use his revolvers. For years he was an expert in the office of the Mosler Safe company at Hamilton, Ohio. He was discharged for some offense, and then declared he would never do another honest day's work in his life. He has kept his word.

Anderson is wanted in Ohio for postoffice robberies at Asheville, Grove City, Westerville, Roseville, Canal Winchester, Junction City, Pherson, Commercial Point, Station A, Columbus, and at Centerburg, where he assisted in cracking four safes in one night.

With American Capital.

London, March 21.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Financial News reports that an American syndicate has obtained concession to build a metropolitan railway in the Russian capital; also to connect with Finnish railroad. The capital required is $41,200,000.

Flood In Maine.

Bangor, Maine, March 21.—The big toll bridge and the Maine Central railroad bridge between Bangor and Brewer were carried away by the flood last night, and it is reported that a number of lives were lost. There is great excitement. The water is still rising.

The House committee on naval affairs fully concurs with the President in the Sampson-Schley controversy, and recommends that no further action be taken.

Rhodes Condition.

Capetown, March 21.—Cecil Rhoades passed a good night. He is now able to take some nourishment.

Capetown, March 21.—At noon today Cecil Rhoades' physician issued a bulletine stating that Rhoades had had a turn for the worse. His heart is troubling him greatly.

ALARM

OVER REPORTED DESERTION OF TROOPS

NUMBERING TWENTY THOUSAND TO THE REBELS.

IT MAY MEAN A BIG REVOLT

Similar to the Taiping Rebellion—Imperial Troops Equipped With Modern Arms.

Hong Kong, March 21.—Serious alarm has been caused here by the report that all the imperial troops under General Su, numbering 20,000, have deserted to the rebels.

Should the report prove true it would mean that the insurrectionists are capable of defeating almost any imperial force it would be possible to raise.

General Su's men are equipped with modern arms, carefully trained in modern methods, and well officered. Well informed persons anticipate a revolt similar to the Taiping rebellion.

Continued droughts have raised fears of a famine, which would cause great numbers of the farmers to join the rebel forces.

The steamer Aorangi brings to Victoria, B C today a report of the worst drouth Australia has experienced in years. Deaths of many persons are reported daily. Cattle are dying in herds, bubonic plague broken out again, greater severity in New South Wales.

WORRIED

ARE THE BEST FRIENDS OF ROOSEVELT

OVER STRENUOUS EFFORTS TO BUILD UP A MACHINE

TO CAPTURE THE NOMINATION.

Patronage Being Used to Aid His Ambition—Displacement of Pension Commissioner Evans.

Washington, March 21.—President Roosevelt's strenuous efforts to build up a machine which shall insure his nomination as his own successor are greatly grieving some of his best friends, who have hoped he would rise above considerations of future personal advantage in his administration of the Government. Those friends are now forced to admit, however, that the President is doing as so many of his predecessors have done—distributing the patronage at his disposal with a view to bringing about his nomination for the presidency in 1904.

The apparent determination to displace Pension Commissioner Evans at the demand of a clique of Grand Army men and pension attorneys, backed by Western politicians, who have a candidate for the place, is the most glaring instance, so far developed, of the President's campaign for the nomination President McKinley, though supposed to be very susceptible to the sort of political pressure that has for three years been trying to secure the removal of Commissioner Evans, resisted that pressure manfully in this instance. But now it appears that President Roosevelt is on the point of yielding to it, in order to get the G. A. R. men in line for him and to please the Kansas delegation in Congress, which has a candidate for Evans' place in the person of former Representative Richard Blue.

If the charge is made it is taken for granted here that the Kansas delegation to the next National Republican convention will be pledged to Roosevelt, so far as such a pledge can be given at this time by the Kansas Republicans in Congress. A deal of this sort would be disappointing enough to the President's reform friends, if the victim of it, Pension Commissioner Evans, were an unfit man for the place he occupies. But the commissioner is generally admitted to be as capable a man as there is in the administration, and has carried out the pension laws with fairness and thoroughness, such enemies as he has made being almost exclusively G. A. R. leaders, who make their living by posing as special friends of the old soldiers, and the pension sharks to whom anything like a business administration of the pension bureau is an offense.

That the President should sacrifice Mr. Evans to a combination of influences of this kind indicates that the high ideals which his friends have credited him with are being rapidly overslaughed by his ambition to succeed himself.

Wood Arrives.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 21.—Governor Wood of Cuba, passed through Jacksonville this morning en route to to Washington. He was accompanied by a distinguished party, of which Miss Alice Roosevelt was a member.

Death Near Lock.

Mrs. William Shough died at her home, one mile west of Lock, Wednesday forenoon, after a lingering illness. She is survived by her husband and nine children. She was about forty years of age. Pettyfogging For The Water Works Company.

A new side editor entered the columns of the American-Tribune yesterday in behalf of the water works company. The arguments presented were in the nature of those of a paid attorney pettyfogging the case, and the paper publishing this and the other labored efforts against the water works proposition, can be relied upon to oppose city ownership and favor the present water works company, whether it is voted on this year, next year or any other year. Of course it is expected that the numerous side editors would make conflicting arguments and contradictory statements, and the article in yesterday's A.-T. contains a bad break of this character. So far as this water works question has been made a newspaper controversy every reader in Newark knows that it began by the A.-T. assailing the Council and trying to make the question a political issue. The Advocate has called the A.-T. down on this a score of times: it has printed the names of the Councilmen who voted for the water works ordinance, showing that it passed unanimously by the affirmative vote of every Democrat and every Republican member, and on every occasion the Advocate has defended the action of the Republican members against the A.-T.'s covert attacks as much as it has defended the Democratic Councilmen. Yet the A.-T.'s latest side editor charges the Advocate with endeavoring to make the issue a political one!

The Advocate has distinctly stated in every utterance it has made from the first and throughout that the water works proposition is an economic question and NOT a political one. The Advocate states this with emphasis now, and the question before the people on which they are to vote simply means this:

Shall the city own and operate its water works?

OR

Shall a private company continue to own and operate the water works?

Our people are not so ignorant on this water works question as the A.-T. assumes. They have studied it for 16 years, they are quite sufficiently educated to know what they want and they are ready to vote NOW.

WATER WORKS

Should be Owned and Operated by Our Progressive City and the People Should Vote "Aye."

The Advocate is in favor of municipal ownership of the Newark Water Works.

The Advocate is opposed to renewing the contract with the present Water Works company for the reason that its rates are too high and its service inadequate to supply the demands of all the people.

The Advocate favors City ownership of the Water Works System and an extension of the water mains to all sections of the city that all the people may have ample water at reasonable prices.

has been paid to the water works company for fire hydrants would more than have paid the interest on the

If the city had built its own water works 16 wears ago, the amount that has been paid to the water works company for fire hydrants would more than have paid the interest on the bonds issued for construction, and the net revenue from the consumers would have paid off the bonds. This is the experience of other cities in Ohio that built their own water works, and Newark should profit by it.

The Advocate favors voting "aye" on the question to be submitted to the people on April 7th. Such a vote will mean that the voter is in favor of Municipal ownership, is opposed to a renewal of the city's contract with the present Water Works company, and is in favor of an extension of the water mains to serve the whole people alike, giving the poor man a chance to have city water taken into his house at a fair rate.

An affirmative vote on this question on April 7 does not mean that bonds will be issued at once, but that plans will be laid and the work mapped out so that by the time the contract with the present water company expires the city will not be at its mercy. The objection of the non-partisan committee to the council's action has been met by a supplementary ordinance which makes the date of the issue of bonds two years in the future and it is mere folly for a friend of the water company to say that the Council will turn around and "rescind" that ordinance and issue the bonds at once. Why should they be issued at once? It is not necessary and when the non-partisan committee pointed that fact out the Council unanimously agreed to have the bonds issued two years hence.

The American-Tribune has pursued a wobbling policy, but nevertheless an attitude that has clearly stamped it as the champion of the present water company. Its course shows it to be opposed to muincipal ownership and in favor of another contract with the present company. It dare not come out openly and say so but what else can its attitude mean?

If the Tribune were in favor of the city owning its own plant, if it were in favor of lower water rents and a wider extension of the water mains, why does it seek to defer the matter until the city is forced to renew its conract with the old company?

There has been an effort to drag politics into the discussion of this question when in fact there is no politics and there should be none in it. It is a matter that every citizen and every tax payer is interested in and should study before casting his vote on it. The City Council was unanimous in every vote taken on the question. Republicans and Democrats were united in their action and every effort to cast suspicion on the Council's action is an effort of a friend of the present Water Works company to defer the proposition with the hope of forcing upon the city another contract wholly in the interest of the water company.

Why Was Mr. Matticks Defeated?

Why was Councilman Matticks turned down for Mayor by certain influences in the Republican City Convention? He had made an open canvass, which the nominee did not do, he was the favorite in all the public discussions about the candidates, and he received the highest vote on the first ballot. It is a notorious fact that Mr. Matticks was recognized all over the city yesterday as practically as good as nominated. But he was unexpectedly turned down, and the belief is widespread today that one of the principal reasons why he was defeated was the fact that he stood out conspicuously in opposition to the stand the American-Tribune has taken on the water works question. Mr. Matticks voted in favor of city ownership at every stage of the proceeding. The A.-T.'s condemnation of the acts of the Council on the water works question was applied to Mr. Matticks as directly as to any other member of that body. Consequently the A.-T. would have had to stultify itself in the eyes of the public had Mr. Matticks been nominated. And consequently Mr. Matticks, who was far the most popular before the people, was turned down.

Another leading reason why the Republicans turned down their most popular candidate to nominate Forry was the connection Mr. Matticks sustains to the American-Tribune. Mr. Matticks is an employe of that paper and as some of the Republicans expressed it: "We didn't want to nominate a man out of the Tribune office. It would hurt our chances of winning owing to the unpopular course the paper is taking on the Water Works proposition and other policies that paper has pursued. If D. W. Matticks had not been a Tribune employe he would have been the party's nominee."

Where The Real Danger Is.

The A.-T.'s latest side editor claims that the supplementary ordinance passed by the Council last Monday night, limiting the time of issuing the water works bonds and beginning the work of construction to two years hence, can be "rescinded" at any time the Cuncil sees fit. By the same rule of reasoning the original ordinance providing for the issuing of the bonds can be rescinded whenever the water works company succeeds in packing the Council with a majority in its interest. One danger is just as great as the other. And this simply shows that until this water works question is finally settled, and settled right, the people must be doubly careful in choosing their members of the City Council. The present Council is all right, and men of the same well known views on this vital question should be continued in that body.

If the water works proposition is voted down this spring what guarantee have the citizens that the water works company will not secure a sufficient membership in the City Council in two years from now to prevent submission of any proposition to the voters, and thus place the city in a position by which it will be compelled to make another contract with the water company at the latter's terms?

This the danger the people must look out for.

Puts Britain to the Blush.

(Columbus Dispatch.)

The release of Lord Methuen by the Boer leaders is really a victory over the British greater and more impressive than the surprise and scattering of his forces. Following on the very questionable execution of Commandant Scheepers and coming as a commentary on proclamations that those who dare longer to resist the British conquest will be treated as outlaws, it challenges Christendom to say whether the despised and rude Boers or the British government, with all its boasts of civilization, stand for chivalry and most carefully observe the rules of civilized war.

America and the Boer War.

(St. Louis Republic.)

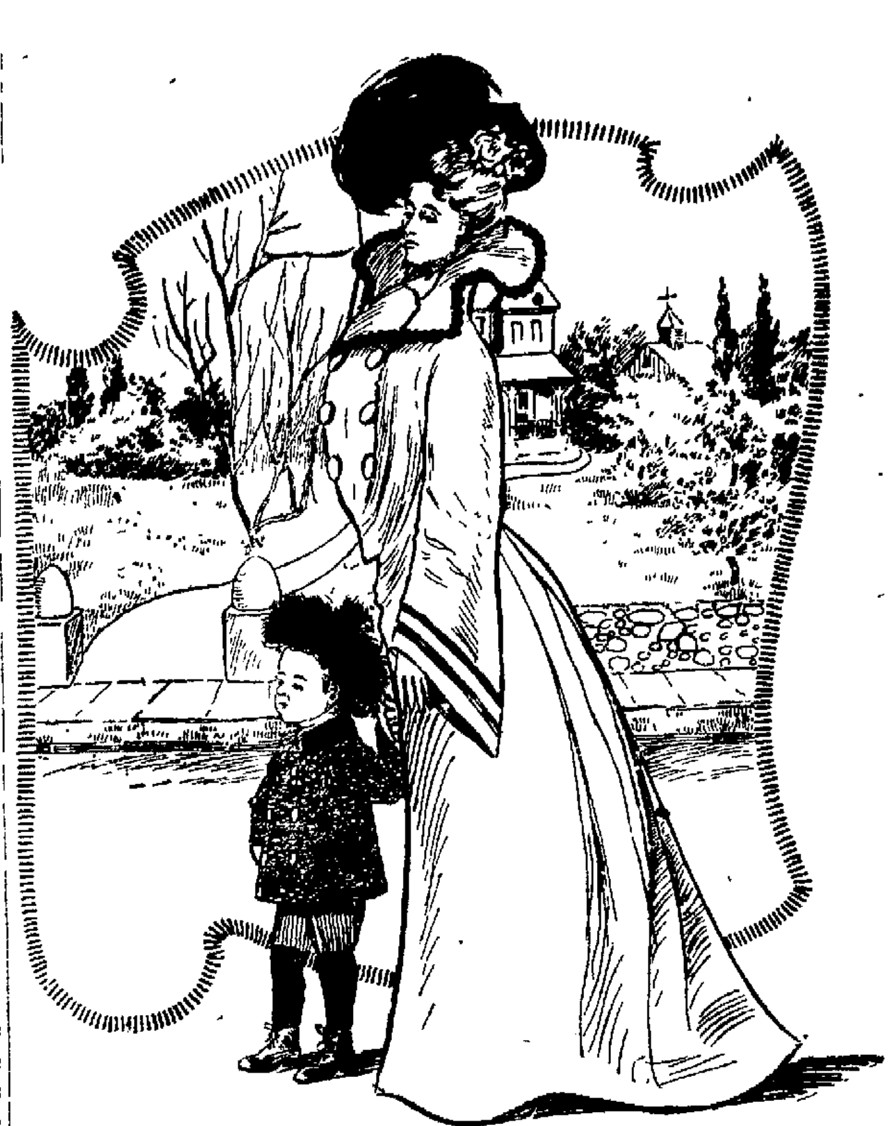

No genuine American can see anything in the British war against the Boers save a war for conquest and the despoliation of a weaker free people. Even the more conscientious among the English themselves are crying out against the unrighteousness of this war. That an American administration should so studiously ignore the rights of the two south African republics in such a conflict is well-nigh incredible.

With the return of Prince Henry to Germany comes the bulletin that the kaiser has signed a decree which will bar the importation into Germany of American canned beef, bacon, hams and pork, which will have the effect of cutting off $6,000,000 a year of American exports. The pretense is that the preservatives used in preserving the debarred meat amounted to injurious adulteration. It is a good thing this news did not get to Chicago before the vast and Windy wenty crazy in enthusiasm over the prince. In reality the measure is one of protection for German industries, and is simply giving to high protection Americans a little of their own medicine. The Kaiser thought it best, of course, to postpone the decree till after Henry had his fun over here.

Krause's Cold Cure.

FIND THE MAN THEY ARE WAITING FOR.

AN EPISODE OF THE GREAT CHICAGO FIRE

[Original]

While on a business trip to Chicago last summer I was invited to stay at the house of Walter Kennedy, a man with whom I had dealings. Kennedy was a self made man who by industry had rendered himself and his family very comfortable. His house stood on the banks of Lake Michigan, on a bluff a dozen miles north of the city. One evening after dinner we were smoking on his piazza overlooking the lake. Mrs. Kennedy sat with us, stroking the hair of her little daughter. Beneath, the waves were plashing on the sand. We were speaking of the rapid growth of the metropolis of the west.

"By the bye, Kennedy," I said, "were you in Chicago at the time of the great fire?"

"Well, yes," he said; then, after a moment's silence, "It was the big burn that gave me my start."

I looked expectant, but did not care to ask for his confidence.

"Everybody about here knows the story," he said presently, "so I might as well give it to you. In 1871, I regret to confess, I was little better than a street arab. I lived from hand to mouth on what I could pick up and never had a cent over. Indeed it never occurred to me to save anything out of my scant earnings. I remember well the opening of the great fire. It was Sunday night and, though October, was very warm. I was playing craps with some boys on the street when the fire alarm sounded, but we had had so many alarms for the past month that we boys paid no attention to it. Presently there was such a great glare to the west that we stopped the game and went across the river to get a nearer view. We found the people over there moving out of their houses, and the streets lined with furniture and bedding, on which were lying the little children.

"I roamed about, enjoying the novelty of the situation, till I found myself in the track of the fire. I looked about for a way out, and, seeing that there was but one chance, down a street running southward, I started to run for my life. The buildings I passed were deserted, their owners having realized their danger and got away. Not a human being was near—yes, one. Passing a mattress lying on the sidewalk, I heard a cry. Stopping, I examined a diminutive bundle on it and unrolled a mite of a girl baby."

"She weighed twelve pounds," put in Mrs. Kennedy. "You weighed her a few days after."

"Well, then," continued her husband, "I unrolled a twelve pound baby. The most natural thing in the world to do was to pick up the baby and take it along with me. At any rate, this is what I did. There were flames in my path, though more smoke than flame. Covering the baby's face carefully, I shot through it like an arrow. Now I was safe. The fire was sweeping northeastward.

"Well, here I was, near midnight on the 8th of October, 1871, a boy of twelve years without a cent in my pocket suddenly become a father. I went on southward, where the people in safety were standing in front of their houses or on their roofs watching the great glare and listening to the boom of failing buildings. My burden was squalling, and a woman, taking pity on me and it, brought out from her house some milk in a bottle. The baby drank it, and when I gave the woman my story she had the liberality to give me the bottle, but not the humanity to take us in.

"There was an outhouse in the neighborhood where I had often slept, there being a board loose so that I could crawl into a place where hay was kept. I took the baby to this place and laid her on a soft bed. Fortunately I had found her well wrapped in blankets. I shall never forget the companionable feeling of cuddling up alongside the little thing and going to sleep. In the morning I was awakened by something tugging at my hair, and there was the baby laughing at me.

"I took the bottle, went out and begged some food of a woman and brought it back for the child's breakfast."

"It was fortunate you went to a woman," remarked Mrs. Kennedy. "You wouldn't have known how to prepare the food."

"It was then I learned, and after that I prepared the food myself. Well, as soon as the baby was asleep again I went out and earned some money carrying things for people—for they were pouring southward on Michigan avenue—then went back again and gave the baby its dinner. She looked to me like a birdlet just hatched, her nose was so small and her mouth so wide. The only name I knew for a bird was 'chippy,' or what we boys called 'chippy bird,' so I called her Chip.

"One day I was doing a job for a gentleman and told him about my baby. He asked me where she was, and after he had promised me not to take her from me I told him. He went with me to our home, and when he saw Chip snoozing away, with an empty bottle beside her, great was his astonishment. He told me to pick her up and follow him, but I said that all I wanted was to earn money to buy milk for her, and, seeing that I was determined, he left me alone with her, telling me to come to his store and he would give me work. I did so and soon after took Chip to a little room I hired. Having something to work for, I attended to business and am now at the head of the concern I entered over thirty years ago."

"And what became of the baby?"

"Chip," he replied, looking at his wife, "I think you'd better finish the story."

"There's nothing more to tell."

HUMOR OF THE HOUR

Unqualified Indorsement.

"I want to show you my new bonnet," said Mrs. Hammersmith to her husband.

Mr. Hammersmith tried to smile and look pleasant.

"I want your judgment on it, dear," she went on. "How do you like it as compared with my last bonnet?"

"Why—er," began Hammersmith, pretending to make a critical examination, "this is very pretty, but what is the difference in their cost?"

"This cost $7 less than my last one."

Hammersmith's mind was instantly made up.

"I like this much better," he said.—Pittsburg Gazette.

A Ready Reckoner.

"Can I get to the next town before dark?"

"I reckon."

"'Bout three miles, ain't it?"

"I reckon."

"And a rough road?"

"I reckon."

"My friend," said the traveler, "do you do anything else besides 'reckon?'"

"I reckon I does!" replied the man as he climbed the rail fence and shuffled homeward.—Atlanta Constitution.

Candor.

"I like the western people," said the hearty citizen. "You can always depend on them to come to the point clearly and quickly."

"That was my observation a good many years ago," answered the facetious person. "They didn't beat around the bush like a confidence man or a gold brick operator. They simply said, 'Your money or your life!'"—Washington Star.

Mr. Humphries' Fad.

"I understand," said Mrs. Bontonne, "that your wife has a fad for collecting antique vases. It's a pity you haven't some fad, too, Mr. Humphries; they're just lovely."

"I have one," said Mr. Humphreys rather shortly. "My fad is collecting the stuff with which Mrs. Humphries collects the vases."—Indianapolis Sun.

HANNA ANXIOUS TO MAKE ANY TRADE

Details of Daugherty Proposals Are Now Revealed in the State of Ohio.

Columbus, March 21.—John R. Malloy, just back from Washington, makes the first authoritative withdrawal of General Dick as a candidate for the Governorship and the reported alliance between Senator Hanna and Harry M. Daugherty. Mr. Malloy, speaking for Dick, says that the latter has never been a candidate for Governor.

He adds that no man knows what the future may develop. This statement is understood to mean that Dick will be a candidate if he is assured of Hanna's full support.

With reference to the conference at Washington Dick and Cyrus Huling Daugherty's chief lieutenant, Malloy is more specific. He says Huling suggested that Dick withdraw as Chairman of the State Executive committee and that Cameron, Treasurer of the state, be made his successor. Comeron is considered a Daugherty man.

Huling agreed that L. C. Laylin, Secretary of State, a Hanna partisan may have a second nomination.

The whole tenor of the statement is to the effect that Hanna and Dick are willing to sacrifice anything to defeat Foraker and to assure Hanna's return to the Senate two years hence. If, to accomplish this end, an alliance with Daugherty is necessary, Dick's chances of being Governor are very small.

Registration tonight and tomorrow.

The Pressure of Light.

The idea that the waves of light produce a mechanical push or pressure was advanced years ago by Clerk Maxwell, but he could only offer a theoretical proof. Recently Professor Lebedew of Moscow has made an experimental demonstration of the "pressure of light." He employs a radiometer resembling the familiar Crookes radiometers with their revolving vanes, but uses a larger and more completely exhausted bulb, from which the heating effect that is the principal agent in moving the Crookes vanes is excluded. When the light falls upon the vanes, they are driven before it, and the intensity of the pressure thus revealed comes within 10 per cent of that calculated by Maxwell. The effect is independent of the color of the light and directly proportional to its energy.

A Shoemaker and a Novelist.

A shoemaker has written a review of Miss Wilkins' novel, "The Problem of Labor," which deals with life in a New England shoe factory. The literary shoemaker does not like the book. He objects to Miss Wilkins' ideas of the labor and business world, and he criticises the author's style. He wonders that the book could command a price and marvels that it was "printed and published by the most well known publishing house in the country." He regards the success of the novel as "discouraging" and wonders how long people will continue to "read such books." As a climax to his remarks he adds, "This author is fairly well paid for doing work which the most ignorant shoe worker could not have failed to do much better."

Infant Mortality In Russia.

The medical reports presented to the local Russian authorities by the doctors of the different districts reveal an alarming state of things with regard to infant mortality. It appears that in many of the governments the proportion of the children who die during the first year is as high as 40 and even 50 per cent. In isolated cases it is even higher. The reports ascribe this terrible mortality mainly to the ignorance of the peasants and to the fact that the mothers have frequently to neglect their children to work in the fields.

Lost Rivers Discovered.

Subterranean lakes have recently been discovered in the Eucla district, Australia. They lie about thirty feet below the surface and contain an abundant provision of potable water. This discovery is of great practical importance to this especially arid district. It is of scientific value also, as it affords an explanation of the disappearance of certain rivers.

Berlin residents have been warned by the Police President that he will, if the practice is persisted in, make it a punishable offense to alight from electric cars while they are in motion.

HOCKEY PLAYERS ARE MAKING THINGS HUM.

Intercollegiate and Amateur Leagues Now Fighting For Honors—Yale and Harvard.

Hockey as a winter sport now holds the place in popular favor. The great Canadian game, or, as some people like to call it, the modern adaptation of shinney, has made great strides in the last few years, and interest has grown to such an extent that the mere announcement of a match is enough to attract a goodly crowd.

The season is now on and for the next two months will furnish plenty of entertainment for its followers.

This year the intercollegiate branch of the game promises to usurp in popularity the place held last season by amateurs. This stimulus is due to the admission of Harvard to the association, whose other members are Yale, Princeton, Brown and Columbia. For the last three years Harvard has been keenly anxious to take part in the contests for the championship, but the faculty has only allowed the team the privilege of one trip to New York. Now, however, the faculty restrictions have been overcome, largely because the schedule has been shortened so that each team meets every other seven only once, and not twice, as in previous years. At the conclusion of the season the two teams ranking highest on a percentage basis will meet in a series of three additional games to decide the championship.

Goodwin Stoddard of Yale has offered a cup under the conditions that it must be won three times, not necessarily in succession, to become the permanent property of any college. Yale has a stronger seven this season than last, as indicated by its recent play, and Harvard will also have a good team, although one or two of the best players were graduated in June. Brown and Princeton do not promise as well as, or at least but little better than, last year, but Columbia is apt to prove a factor, as last year the best men were debarred from playing by the faculty for taking a forbidden trip to Pittsburg. This meant a substitute seven in the intercollegiate series.

While the college games will attract chief interest, they are not to compare in point of skill or excitement with the best of the contests in the American Hockey league. Indeed, these matches, in spectacular play, speed and brilliance, probably surpass similar qualities displayed in other branches of outdoor sport. The excellence of the contests will be further enhanced this year by the fact that the membership of the league has been reduced to four clubs, the New York Athletic club, Crescent Athletic club of Brooklyn, Hockey club of New York and St. Nicholas Skating club of New York. This cuts out the Quaker City and Brooklyn sevens. Probably, as usual, the struggle for the championship will rest between the New York and Crescent sevens.

At Harvard new life and activity have been given to the sport because of the fact the seven will play in the championship series. Nearly 100 candidates are daily handling the puck on Holmes field, and the prospects for a strong team are highly encouraging. The practice has been greatly facilitated by the new rink. Last year the team practiced on adjacent ponds when the weather and ice were good and later in the winter finished its preparation for the harder games on a rink on Soldiers' field. The present rink presents many advantages over the old one, being much nearer, more accessible and able to accommodate a larger number of skaters.

Of the men who are trying for this year's team five are back from last year's seven, and one substitute, Truyu, stands a good chance of making the aggregation. The five men back are Captain Windsor, Manning, Penhallow, Goodridge and Rumsay. Windsor is a forward and in the game with Yale last year showed qualities that easily distinguished him as one of the foremost hockey players in that position in the country. Manning and Penhallow on the defense are strong, quick players and should be able to retain their old positions with ease, while Rumsay and Goodridge will give splendid support to Captain Windsor as forwards.

COTTON

THE NEGRO PICKERS MAKE GOOD WAGES IN ARKANSAS.

Frank Wright of Arkansas, is Visiting Relatives in Granville and Newark This Week.

Frank Wright, a son of Theodore Wright of Granville, who is now located on a large cotton plantation in Arkansas, arrived home Saturday night, to spend a few days with his parents, and relatives and friends in Newark, after which he will return to the south.

Mr. Wright talked in a most interesting manner of his life in Arkansas, which is in many ways very strenuous. The plantation on which he now resides is near Helena, and consists of about 1700 acres, which is cultivated entirely by negro labor.

On this plantation under the immediate control of Mr. Wright, live 37 families of negroes, averaging about six to the family. The negroes are "kept" considerably like a military garrison. Everything they eat, drink or wear is issued to them from a central depot, and they are charged with its value. At the end of the season a balance is struck. Mr. Wright said that the men, women and children all picked cotton, and some became very expert. As he expressed it, "Everything on the plantation which draws rations, must work."

Some of the negroes make good money, some averaging $100 a month and over. Mr. Wright said, "When I settled with one old negro, he owed me about $3200 and I owed him about $4000, for the season's work, and we settled on this basis."

A negro can, when expert, pick about 500, 600 to 800 pounds of cotton a day. For a novice 75 pounds is a good day's work.

Every day, twice, Mr. Wright sees every laborer on the plantation, being in the saddle almost constantly during the day.

As to the negro characteristics, he said they were without gratitude, and for the same reason, without resentment. If you would take one of them out of the gutter, feed, clothe him and give him a home, he would feel no gratitude, but on the other hand if you would spurn him or kick him he would cherish no malice.

Besides the Arkansas plantation, Mr. Wright is interested with his father in a 15000 acre plantation in Mississippi, which is not now entirely cleared.

The young man is also interested in placing loans for a large life insurance company, and his many friends in Granville and Newark where he was frequently seen on the gridiron, will be pleased to know that he is making money, friends and success in the south.

Nerve Slavery

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tells the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Throbbing, palpitating heart.
Sleepless nights.
Sudden startings.
Morning languor.
Brain fag.
Inability to work or think.
Exhaustion on exertion.
Flagging appetite.
Digestion slow.
Food heavy.
Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
Strength fails.
Loss of flesh and muscular power.
Settled melancholia.

UNDERGROUND RIVER

SUBTERRANEAN STREAM SAID TO RUN UNDER NEW ENGLAND STATES.

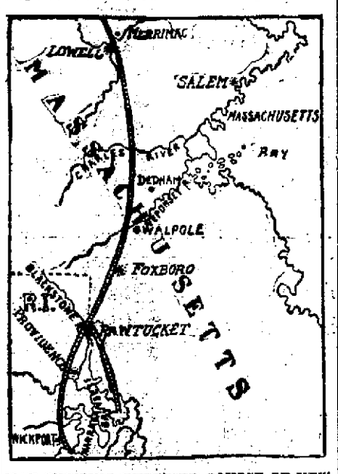

According to Theory of Professor Denton, the Mad Torrent Rushes Far Under the Earth From New Hampshire to Rhode Island.

[Special Correspondence.]

DEDHAM, Mass., March 17.—A lawsuit recently argued here before the Norfolk superior court of Massachusetts has revived interest in the theory that the people of the New England states are living on a crust of earth from 80 to 120 feet in thickness, beneath which there is a rushing torrent of water that makes its way from the White mountains in New Hampshire to Narragansett bay.

The case in which talk of the underground river theory was brought up was that of Hollingsworth & Vose against the Foxboro Water Supply district. The plaintiffs claimed that the town of Foxboro had been taking water from a privilege that belonged to them. Foxboro denied the allegation.

An effort was made to prove that Foxboro was taking its water from the Neponset river, of which the plaintiffs have full control. It is said that peppermint was poured upon the surface of the Neponset in order to establish the case, it being contended that if the water showed any signs of the essence when drawn from faucets in different places it would prove conclusively that it was being taken from the Neponset river. No trace was found of peppermint, however.

Of course the Foxboro district people were delighted with the result of the test, but another experiment was made. It is said that a mammoth steam pump was erected near one of the wells from which the Foxboro district obtains water, and the pump was put to a severe test, pumping thousands of gallons of water every hour. Notwithstanding this, Foxboro got its usual supply of water with the same heavy pressure.

The belief in the underground river story owes its being to one Professor Denton, who used to deliver popular lectures throughout New England, his favorite theme being geology. Denton was a clever man who had evidently studied his subject earnestly. He was a convincing speaker. He could hold the attention of his hearers to the close of the lecture, and in any town where he had once appeared he always found it easy to secure a re-engagement. He had a number of startling theories to expound, one of which related to a vast subterranean stream rising among the White mountains and flowing southward.

Denton traced the course of this river from near the New Hampshire line down through the state of Massachusetts to the Rhode Island border, where, he declared, the stream separated, forming a Y, one branch of which passed down the eastern side of the Providence river and the other to the west of it. His underground river crossed, he thought, though deep underneath it, the Blackstone at Pawtucket Falls, one of its branches running beneath the Seekonk river to an embouchure into the bay, the other arm proceeding down the western shore, crossing under the Pawtucket and two or three other smaller streams and finally emptying into Narragansett bay near Wickford.

This theory led the marvelous torrent underneath the town of Foxboro, where, Denton claimed, it comes closest to the surface, in fact where it finds an outlet in Witch pond. This idea is substantiated by men in Foxboro who have tried to find the bottom of Witch pond. They have never succeeded, but startling tales are told of mysterious roarings below the surface. These roarings or explosions of gases are followed by great commotions on the pond's surface. During these upheavals report has it that lily pads as large as a man's thigh have been thrown upon the shores. In the icy waters of the pond lurk mammoth pickerel.

The Hollingsworth & Vose case has been hanging fire for years. At the recent trial in Dedham Professor N. S. Shaler of Harvard, who is accounted one of the highest geological experts in the United States, gave it as his opinion that there were various strata carrying water in the region in dispute, and Professor Niles of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, also famed as an expert in matters geological, claimed there was a vast hydrographic basin underlying that section and resting upon the bedrock in which the water courses from which the town's supply was drawn are located and in which the quantity of water is practically inexhaustible. The evidence was deemed conclusive by the jury, and the finding was in favor of the town on the three questions of fact advanced in the case.

WISE WOMEN USE THE GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

Paine's Celery Compound

It Is the Only Remedy That Can Provide for the Increase of Red Corpuscles in the Blood.

From every section of the land, from Maine to California, strong and well attended reports of women, bloodless, nervous, dyspeptic, neuralgic, rheumatic, and run down, and in many cases so weak as to be bedridden, who have been enabled to resume their places in the family and in social life, enjoying health, vigor, and true happiness, all through the aid of that great blood purifier, blood maker, and health giver, Paine's Celery Compound.

When Paine's Celery Compound is used, the rapid change in color, flesh, and expression of the face is so marked and observable that repair of the wasted tissues might well be called a renewal of life.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can effectively increase the proportion of red corpuscles in the blood; this is a source of power over all blood diseases, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles, dyspepsia, indigestion, and general run down condition.

Mrs. Martha P. Lunceford, a well known and popular lady of Crawfordsville, Ga., grateful for her cure by Paine's Celery Compound, sends the following letter for the benefit of all suffering women:

"I think it my duty to let you know about the wonderful work Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I have been sick for the past fifteen or twenty years with dyspepsia, heart trouble and stomach trouble, and rheumatism, and so many diseases that I can't mention them all.

"As for sleep, I didn't know what it was to have a good night's sleep, and would roll and tumble and sit up in bed half the night. The second night I took Paine's Celery Compound, I went to bed and slept all night. You don't know how much better I felt in the morning. I have not lost a night's sleep since I have been taking Paine's Celery Compound. I don't know in what words to thank you for Paine's Celery Compound. It is worth its weight in gold."

Remarkable Parallel.

In the matter of parallels a rather remarkable one is suggested by this question, which appeared in the New York Sun:

"Will you kindly oblige me by telling me what President is was who was born in Ohio, rendered gallant service in the War of the Rebellion, was a lawyer by profession, became a member of Congress and served there for many years; was noted for the urbanity of his manners and his skill at speech-making, was assassinated by a hitherto obscure person, showed great fortitude in the manner of his death, and was succeeded by his vice president, a very cultivated man from New York city?"

Needless to say, the reference is to Garfield and McKinley and to Arthur and Roosevelt.

FALLSBURG.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Babcock met with quite an accident on Friday morning. They were on their way to visit a niece of the latter, Miss Bessie Scott at Utica, who has been quite ill for some days. The coupling pin dropped out of their wagon near the home of Mr Matthew Frost and the horses becoming frightned started to run away. Mr. Babcock was thrown out of the wagon and dragged some distance, but fortunately escaped serious injury. They returned home, leading the horses and returned for the wagon in the afternoon.

AN OPEN LETTER.

To the Mayor of this City:

Dear Sir:

In addressing this open letter to you, we thereby recognize in you the people's special representative, and through you to them we desire to make certain representations, the truth and authenticity of which, in consequence of our medium of communication must be accepted without question, as we are fully alive to the indignity we would cast upon you were we to utter false statements through you.

From time to time we have caused to be published in the papers of this city certain statements and claims for our new tonic and reconstructor, Vinol, Wine of Cod Liver Oil. We have asked the people to investigate these claims under the guarantee that we would make good to them all the money expended in prosecuting their investigations, provided the results were not exactly what we claimed.

Through you we wish to state to the people that this investigation has brought to light positive proof that Vinol amply justifies the strong statements we have made concerning it; proof monumental and indisputable is coming to us from all parts of the city which confirms beyond contradiction the fact that Vinol is a scientific and wonderfully successful remedy for the ills for which it is recommended. While, of course, you accept our assurances of this fact, we offer, and shall continue to do so, the indisputable and unparalleled testimony of prominent citizens of this city, whose experiences we shall be glad to recount to all who are interested enough to call at our store and ask about them.

Kindly understand that Vinol is not a patent medicine. It contains nothing but the curative properties of cod liver oil and a little organic iron dissolved in a delicious table wine, and while it contains all the medicinal elements and curative properties contained in the cod's liver, it contains no oil or grease and is as deliciously palatable as the most delicate glass of wine, and we cordially invite everyone to call at our store and investigate it thoroughly.

No one medicine will cure everything, but we do know that Vinol will certainly help all those who are afflicted with ailments for which Vinol is recommended. To verify this statement, we would say that although we have always sold Vinol on a positive guarantee that we would refund the entire amount of purchase money to all persons who bought it from us and after a fair trial were not satisfied, ninety-eight per cent. of the bottles of Vinol sold from our store have been paid for and retained, which shows that Vinol must have been successful in almost every identical case.

You can readily understand that a bold guarantee of this kind would bankrupt us if we were not absolutely sure that the remedy we are recommending and guaranteeing will support our claims, which are set forth in circular which we append herewith.

As a Spring Tonic

after the debilitating effects of the winter season, caused mainly by too much indoor life,—too little exercise and neglected colds,—most every one needs a "bracing up" tonic. VINOL will re-establish strength, energy and vim, quicker than anything we know. Try it on our guarantee.

Pale Women — Pale Children

need a tonic-reconstructer that will create flesh, and make pure, red blood. Pale, haggard faces show that the blood is poor and thin and also indicate imperfect digestion. VINOL will correct such troubles as sure as the sun shines. Children love VINOL, it is so delicious. Try it on our guarantee.

Debilitated — All Tired Out.

Why drag out an existence without life or ambition? It is not natural to feel continually tired. We guarantee VINOL will bring life, strength and vigor to the debilitated. If you do not feel well try VINOL. If it does not help you your money will be refunded.

Gain Flesh — Get Strength.

You can get fat without taking disagreeable Cod Liver Oil. Fat taken into the system does not create fat. We believe VINOL will create flesh quicker than any preparation containing grease. We have proved in many cases that VINOL quickly creates strength. Try it on our guarantee.

Indigestion — Dyspepsia.

Only those who actually suffer know its terrors, for them life is robbed of all joy. It produces many serious complications and enfeebles the entire system. Relief only comes when a scientific remedy enables the stomach to properly assimilate food. There is no medicine that will do this so successfully as VINOL. Try it on our guarantee.

Old People — Weak People

need a strengthening and invigorating rebuilder. VINOL is of exceptional value in such cases. We guarantee to give strength and health to those who are weak and debilitated from disease or old age. Try it on our guarantee.

Nursing Mothers — Weak Mothers.

If women with nursing babies who have difficulty in keeping up their health and strength would take VINOL, we know positively that the best results would be obtained. You know the life and future development of the child depends upon proper nourishment. Try it on our guarantee.

Bronchitis — Sore Lungs.

These diseases often end fatally unless especially cared for in their early stages. There is no medicine more valuable for restoring health to the throat and lungs than VINOL, Wine of Cod Liver Oil. Try it on our guarantee.

Nervousness — Irritability.

Diseased nerves are due to overwork, insufficient nourishment or slow breaking down of general health. We guarantee VINOL, Wine of Cod Liver Oil, to permanently and effectually cure nerve affections; it actually rebuilds the entire body. Try it on our guarantee.

Chronic Colds — Hacking Cough.

Sure signs of danger ahead. One might as well commit suicide as to let them go unchecked. VINOL is the very medicine needed. Unlike other Cod Liver Oil Preparations, it does not upset the stomach, and it is delicious to the taste.

All persons who buy Vinol are under no obligations to us if after giving it a fair trial they have received no benefit; upon calling at our store they will receive their money back.

You see our faith in Vinol, and you must admit that we know something about medicine; therefore, when we state to the people through you that Vinol is the most valuable preparation of cod liver oil we have ever sold, and a wonderful tonic reconstructor and rebuilder of strength, appetite and health, we are not unreasonable to expect them to believe us. We shall continue to recommend Vinol for the above ailments on our positive guarantee. Yours, with much respect,

PUT ALL THE CANDIDATES TO ROUT

DARK HORSE SPRUNG AND WON ON THIRD BALLOT.

BOLTON'S NOMINATION RATIFIED.

The Action of the Republican Convention Thursday Night Practically Amounts to That.

TICKET NOMINATED.

Mayor.
C. C. FORRY.
Cemetery Trustee
CHRIS. KAMMERER
Township Clerk.
EARL MURPHY.
Township Trustee.
C W. HARRINGTON.
Constable.
ERNEST JONES.

The Republican City Convention met Thursday evening, in the convention room of the Court House, and ratified the nomination of Frank A. Bolton for Mayor of the city of Newark.

This was not the purpose of the convention as published in the call, which stated that it was to meet to place in nomination a candidate for mayor, but the results of the evening's work was a practical ratification of the Democratic nomination, of last Saturday, when, after a fair and equal contest in the open, between four good men, Mr. Frank Bolton was declared the choice of the Democracy for mayor.

The contrast between the methods of nominating candidates, employed by the two parties, was painfully apparent Thursday evening

W. C. Seward, C. E. Moore, D W Matticks and Dr McCleery were avowed candidates. They announced their names in the party organ, for which they paid the fee. After the ward primaries each of these four men made an honorable canvass of the delegates and came into the convention satisfied that they had done their best

Their names were put in nomination and at the same time a man was sprung who had made no open, manly canvass, but sat in his seat as a delegate from the Sixth ward, making no protest against the use of his name, although he must have known at that time, if he was not "in" on the deal, that the announcement of his name was intended to defeat the other four men who had made an honorable effort to secure the nomination. This man was C. C. Forry.

His name was announced by Attorney Carl Norpell, when the Eighth ward was called. As Mr. Norpell's plan was carried out to the letter ,he is today smiling acknowledgments to such greetings as "How are you Mr. Croker?"

On the first ballot Forry received 16 to Matticks' 27; on the second ballot he received 33 to Matticks' 28 and the candiuates stood helplessly by and saw the votes pledged to them, slipping away. Between the second and third ballots several men who were not delegates, were doing missionary work on the floor and soon the finesse of H. J. Hoover, the Eighth ward leader, was apparent. When the Eighth ward was called Forry had 42 votes, within 10 of the nomination. Mr. Hoover had been scattering the Eight ward vote on the two preceding ballots but at this time, threw the 14 votes to Forry, nominating him.

The nomination was not received with the enthusiasm that that of anyone of the others would have been.

He was called forward and thanked the convention for the honor and assured the delegates that he would do his best to be elected

On motion of Smith Redman the nomination was made unanimous

The defeated candidates then made speeches, but that of Dr. McCleery was prophetic, as well as indicative of his feelings. He said that he took comfort in his defeat in the Biblical assurance "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth." He said he had been chastened tonight, "but Square Forry's chastisement as yet to come."

The defeated candidates all feel sore" and they make no attempt to conceal their bitterness. Their friends also will put their stamp of disapproval upon the unusual methods employed to secure Forry's nomination. It was generally thought that Matticks would be nominated.

Standing as he does, a typical representative of the labor movement and its interests and prominent in its councils, as well as being a well known lodge man, his "turn down" by the Republican convention needs no comment.

Col. C. H. Kibler against his protest was nominated and elected chairman of the convention, while T. W. Montgomery, and E. S. Randolph acted as secretaries. Col. Kibler had some difficulty in making Bally Ball's and John Smallwood's ward, (the First) understand that "Brer Jonathan" Rees, under no circumstances, would accept the nomination, and twice they announced "13 votes for Rees." They finally desisted.

The other nominations were quietly made and were as follows:

Cemetery Trustee--Chris Kammerer.

Township Clerk, Earl W. Murphy.

Township Trustee—C. W. Harrington

Constable—Ernest Jones.

The executive committee was authorized to fill all vacancies and the convention adjourned.

THE BALLOTING.

The voting on the three ballots taken for Mayor was as follows:

Ballots.	1	2	3
D. W. Matticks	27	28	38
C. C. Forry	16	33	56
J. Rees	16	20
C. E. Moore	9	4
Dr. McCleery	18	8	5
W. C. Seward	15	8	2

The candidates were placed in nomination as follows: C. E. Moore by G. W. Avery, Second ward; Jonathan Rees, by "Bally" Ball, First ward; W. C Seward, by Dr. J W. Hornby, Fifth ward; Dr. S H. McCleery by E. S. Randolph, and D W. Matticks by Samuel Sachs, Sixth ward; C. C. Forry by Carl Norpell, Eighth ward.

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES.

All persons who were candidates for any office, whether nominated or not, must file a statement of their expenditures with the Clerk of the Court within ten days from the time of the primary election. 21-d1t

AMUSEMENTS.

Theatre goers would do well to bear in mind that Marie Lamour, Ethel Balch and Frederic Murphy, three of the most promising young players on the American stage are in this city for an engagement of one night at the Auditorium tonight in the "laughfest" of all musical comedies, "The Girl From Chili." It is the one comedy above all others that every one has expressed a desire to see, not only because it has proved one of the big successes of the season, but it also serves to display the talents of one of the most evenly balanced comedy organizations on the road at the present time.

The marvelous Lintons in their wonderful performance of East India bewilderment will occupy the stage of the Auditorium tomorrow. The mysterious lady in trance is indeed a XXth century "wonder, and is pronounced by public and press to be the marvel of the age. The prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents, and the exhibition is for one night only—tomorrow night.

Good plays like good wine improve with age. This is certainly true of the marvelously successful melodrama "Human Hearts", which Manager Nankeville presents for the seventh year. The company presenting the play this season comprises all of last year's favorites and wherever a part could be improved upon, the change has been made, and it is promised that never before has this beautiful play been so well presented. "Human Hearts" gives a pure, wholesome lesson that touches the heartstrings in the pathetic scenes and excites the risibilities in the humorous ones. The pathos and comedy are so well blended that the audience is in tears one moment and convulsed with laughter the next. The scenic equipment of "Human Hearts" is perfect in every detail, so it is said, and the management has done everything possible to insure a first class performance. The cast includes Walter W. Law, Jay L. Packard, E. H. McHugh, (the irresistible comedian), W. J. Simms, Milo Kirkpatrick, Edwin McDonough, Frank E. Morse, Jay Simms, W. L. Grove, J. J. Lieberman, Kitty Curry Mabel Decker Marion B Craig, Lily Lyons, Mary Downs and Little Mattie. "Human Hearts" will be the attraction at the Auditorium March 24 next Monday night.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A Stocking Bag.

What woman but is often annoyed by the stocking basket overflowing with clean but undarned hose? Well, here is a way to obviate a part of this annoyance, at least: Make a small bag—not too small, but of convenient size—and hang it up by the machine in the sewing room. To make this bag, take a yard and a half of ecru denim, turn back the two ends in a wide hem and hemstitch these. Then sew up the sides, attach cord and tassels of strong white linen. The result will be a pretty, neat addition to your sewing room as well as a comfort to your mind every time you think of that untidy looking basket that used to be there with its overflowing load of hosiery. If you have time and are skillful with the needle, you might enhance the simple beauty of this household article by having some words outlined and worked in Kensington stitch upon the face of the bag. For instance, one had the words "Oh, Darn 'Em!" upon the front of the bag. This very effective and suggestive legend might have too depressing an effect upon the overworked housewife, but if she is not given to nerves it may only prove a soothing reminder of what is yet before her ere her week's work is completed.

How to Pack a Trunk.

The secret of good packing is firmness and smoothness, and to attain that everything should be put in the trunk in layers. Before putting in the dresses have a firm layer of undergarments and then proceed with the thickest and heaviest of your skirts, says Home Notes.

The skirts should be folded as nearly as possible in the folds they take in wear. See that you lay the skirts alternately in different directions, so that if the waistband on one is to the left side of the trunk the waistband of the next is at the right side, for thus the level will be preserved.

Between light and dark dresses place a towel to prevent the former soiling the latter.

Fold bodices as far as can be in the lines which they take upon the figure; put stiff, lightly crushed paper into the sleeves and also into bows and puffings to prevent their being creased, and then pack as tightly as convenient. When taken out of the trunk, they will be found uninjured.

The candidate for clerk of Davidson county, Tennessee, promises to pay a church debt of $4,000 if he gets the nomination. The money is deposited as an evidence of good faith, and the congregation is said to be working hard among the voters.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Some Americans Abroad.

According to Julian Ralph, Americans are as much disliked as ever the English were and for the same reason. The English were fat headedly satisfied with the superiority of everything English, and it displayed itself in their behavior, but our offenders persist in declaring the fact of America's superexcellence "from the housetops" and no sooner land in Europe than they manifest a desire to reform and revolutionize those backward old lands. Instead of realizing that change and difference were what they came to get and were what made Europe the playground of those of us who can afford to go there, they wanted to heat all the chilly houses of Germany, Austria and Italy, to "get a move on" the omnibuses and underground trains of London, to have French railways run on time, to order Pullman dinners on the Belgian way trains, to introduce the baggage checking system in one day over the whole face of Europe and to perform other such miracles as not even J. Pierpont Morgan would either undertake or in every case recommend. Our irritating many among the annual tourist crowds are also given to declaring fifty times a day, "Bring us the best; the best is not too good for us;" to asserting that the great cathedrals are not as good as our churches at home or, if anything (like the Grand Opera or the palace of Versailles) pleases them, to saying, "We'll send somebody over to buy that thing and have it carried over to Cincinnati."

Brilliant and Rose Cut Diamonds.

"I see in some papers that a new way of cutting diamonds has been discovered," said a jeweler. "This will be welcome news to collectors of freak stones. There are almost as many new ways of cutting diamonds discovered as systems to beat the bank at Monte Carlo, and they are about as successful. As a matter of fact, diamond cutting has been reduced to an exact science. The two best known systems are the brilliant and rose cuts. To obtain the greatest possible brilliance with the least waste stones are brilliant cut—that is, cut with a flat top, or 'table,' as it is called. Rose cut stones are cut without the top table and are flat at the back. A bigger diamond can be produced by rose cutting than by brilliant cutting, but it will not possess half the brilliance of the latter. Rose diamonds are used largely in incrusted jewelry. There have been lots of methods of diamond cutting invented, but none will produce as fiery a stone with as little waste in cutting as the brilliant method. Stones cut by other methods are valuable to collectors as freaks, but usually they would be far more valuable if they had been brilliant cut."—Philadelphia Record.

Red Men Styles.

"Close cropped hair, faces destitute of paint and the abandonment of the blanket" are the twentieth century styles prescribed for the red men by the commissioner of Indian affairs. It is believed that the order against painting the faces is made because the paint melts and runs into the eyes, producing disease. Something, too, may be said for the "boiled shirt." It is hygienic if ugly. But why not leave the way of wearing the hair to individual taste? To be sure, it may be said in defense of the order that the Indians themselves have made several attempts to set the fashion for short hair, only it was designed for other heads than their own and has sometimes been enforced by a process which removed something more than the hair.

Mystery of Balmy Sleep.

A rather startling theory lately put forward by a young physiologist is attracting considerable attention. This student believes that a gland or certain glands in the system secrete a narcotic substance, that this substance is stored in the gland or glands until at definite times—mainly influence by habit and "tiredness" of the individual—it is thrown into the circulation and thereby causes the phenomena of sleep. Further, he suggests that sleep continues as long as the "natural narcotic" is kept up—until the latter is so far attenuated in or wholly abstracted from the blood by the excreting organs.

The New Dead Sea.

The new dead sea discovered by Dr. Seven Henin in Tibet is described as enormous in extent, but so shallow that to navigate it one must wade half a mile to reach the boat and must drag the boat half a mile before it can be floated with a load. But the most remarkable characteristic is the almost incredible amount of salt. Boats and oars quickly become as white as chalk; even the dress of the rowers soon becomes whitened, while drops of water sprinkled upon a dry surface leave globules like candle drippings.

Pound For Pound.

An ingenious English arithmetician, assuming that the Boer army proper contained originally about 22,870 men, averaging in weight 154 pounds, and accepting the estimate of Lloyd George, pro-Boer member of parliament, that the war will eventually cost England some £400,000,000, makes the discovery that the whole of the original Transvaal army might have been weighed out in the scales and barely equaled the weight in gold which will be required before they will be subdued or exterminated.

Postal System Still Modern.

The comparatively modern origin of the present postal system not only in Great Britain, but all over the world, is shown by the fact that King Edward is the first British monarch whose accession has made the issue of freshly designed postage stamps necessary.

INTENSE SUFFERING

From Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble Instantly Relieved and Permanently

Cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. A New Discovery, but Not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable case of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered, to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach. He had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

"I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose As an experiment I finally bought a 50 cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given, and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances fully cured.

"There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh.

"Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invalids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal.

"Without any question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe."

A TALE OF NEW NETHERLANDS

[Original.]

It has been said of one of the old Dutch governors of New York that a Yankee—the Dutch always hated and distrusted the Yankees—one evening directed his attention to a silver crescent in the sky, remarking that it indicated bad weather. The governor looked up at the heavens, then eyed the Yankee suspiciously and said knowingly:

"That iss a ferry goot representation of the moon."

In the town of Albany, about the middle of the seventeenth century, Dietrich Ten Eycke had a dispute with one Killien van Giesbeck, after which Van Giesbeck disappeared. Ten Eycke was arrested for murder, and, not overconfident in the legal attainments of his Dutch brethren, he engaged for counsel a Yankee lawyer who had recently come to town.

"I'll take your case," said the Yankee, "provided you consent beforehand to everything I may do."

The Dutchman agreed, and the case came to trial. The Yankee, well acquainted with the obstinacy of the Dutch jurymen, instead of trying to prove his client's innocence made as bad a defense as possible, at last breaking down and begging the court to be merciful. His client was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, Nov. 18, which would come round in about a month. The case being settled, the prisoner was taken back to jail to await the end.

The next morning the town clock astonished the good burghers by striking the hour of noon an hour later than the day before. Those of the Dutchmen who had timepieces of their own, thinking that they were in error, set the hands back an hour. On the second day the clock was forty minutes slow, and the timepieces were moved back by the same amount. This went on for several days, when the matter began to attract attention. The burghers stood around the clock, wondering at the strange action of their timepieces, when the Yankee lawyer came by and averred that the clock had gone wrong. This settled the matter, and the timepieces were all set back as usual.

The day before the time set for the execution the Yankee applied to the judge for a "stay" on the ground that the legal day for the hanging had passed. He produced an affidavit of Frau Ten Eycke that she had set back the hands of the town clock twenty-four hours, thus losing, he claimed, one day.

The judge sat up all night deliberating whether or no a day had been thus lost. At midnight, not having reached any conclusion, he assembled the twelve jurymen who had convicted Ten Eycke and propounded the problem. Some argued that the sun had risen and set as usual notwithstanding the loss of the clock, and there had been no loss; others declared that the clock was their only calendar, and, the hands having been turned back twenty-four hours, one day had slipped by without their knowing it. At daylight a vote was taken which resulted in a tie. The judge, being much perplexed what to do, granted a stay for forty-eight hours.

The next day the jurymen got together in the wineshop of the town, lighted their clay pipes and consulted what to do about the matter of Dietrich Ten Eycke. After smoking seven hours and consuming as many kegs of beer, during which they vainly endeavored to solve the knotty problem whether the loss of an hour a day for twenty-four days would cause the loss of a day, they were still unable to reach a conclusion. They would probably have discussed the matter without coming to a decision as long as they lived had not the Yankee come into the presence of these doughty citizens with the person of the murdered man himself. There stood Killien van Giesbeck, and there beside him stood the Yankee. The burghers looked from one to the other, first in stupefaction, then with an intelligence superior to any Yankee or any Yankee trick.

"Tell 'em where you have been," said the lawyer.

"After pelts."

Then arose the patroon in his dignity and, eying the Yankee severely, said:

"This man is not Killien van Giesbeck. He may be his brother, but he is not Killien. Killien is dead, and Dietrich killed him. A great thought has come to me. What say you, neighbors—shall we not try the case over, convict the prisoner again and"—

"Hang him for killing a man who went for pelts and is now here?" the Yankee put in.

As much as they detested the Yankee, there was no answering the argument. But every Dutchman sat scowling and fiercely smoking till so dense was the cloud that neither the Yankee nor Killien could be distinguished. The Yankee, feeling that he had gone too far for his own safety, was about to withdraw under cover of the tobacco smoke when the patroon stepped to the door behind him, locked it and put the key in his breeches pocket.

"Neighbors," he said, "this Yankee has insulted us by producing this man as Killien van Giesbeck, who has been murdered. By such a nefarious course he has broken the laws of Albany. Let us settle this case by trying him for being accessory to the murder after the fact."

The Yankee was arrested and lodged in jail. The next day he was tried before the burghers, and, though he brought ample proof that the man he produced was Killien van Giesbeck, the Yankee was convicted and hanged.

This is the only recorded case in the history of New Netherlands where a Dutchman got ahead of a Yankee.

WHERE IS THE DOG?

NEW SHORT STORIES

John Wanamaker and the Bricks.

John Wanamaker, the "merchant king of America," in this republic where leaders in finance, industry and commerce are called "kings," was born in Philadelphia in 1838. Two generations of ancestors were brickmakers.

His first public speech was when as a child he attended a meeting at Dr. Chalmer's church, where the preacher in most eloquent and touching language pleaded for contributions to build a mission church. The congregation had been wrought up to fever heat by the intense fervor of their able leader, and after his final plea there was an instant of surcharged interest suddenly pierced by a child's voice piping shrilly from the gallery, "I'll give one load of bricks from my father's yard." This outburst of vicarious generosity stimulated the giving of all the other auditors.

Years after, when John Wanamaker became superintendent of a Sunday school, which today is the largest in the world, he, too, wanted to build a mission house and, to make the children individually responsible, asked each to bring at least one brick the following Sunday. On the appointed day Mr. Wanamaker was delighted to see his schoolroom resembling a brickyard running on full time. But the next day a contractor in the neighborhood indignantly presented a bill to the superintendent for 1,000 or more bricks the generous children had stolen from one of his buildings in process of erection.—New York Ledger.

Applauded at Wrong Time.

Edwin Markham is excessively modest—for a poet. So all who know him personally will appreciate his painful embarrassment under circumstances which befell him at a recent public entertainment. He occupied a conspicuous stage box with a party of friends and was recognized and pointed out by many persons in the audience as a part of the show. The programme was a miscellaneous one, by amateurs vaguely put down for "solos" and

MARKHAM KEPT ON CLAPPING.

"recitations, selected," and the box party chatted gayly, with only a perfunctory regard to what was doing on the stage. Finally, as a lady elocutionist was curtseying off the stage after having done her little turn, one of the party said:

"Let's give her a hand, just for luck. The entertainment is for charity, anyhow."

"That's right," assented the poet, and he leaned over the front of the box, clapping lustily.

The audience seemed to take up the cue like a trained claque. A perfect tempest of applause brought out the blushing elocutionist again and even threatened an encore. Intermingled with the applause seemed to be shouts of merriment. Markham kept on clapping more furiously than ever.

"Well," said he, "I've helped stir them up, at any rate, though I've not the slightest idea what it was our fair friend just recited or whether she did it well or badly."

"Why, Mr. Markham," whispered a friend at his elbow, "is it possible you didn't recognize those lines? They are from one of your best known poems!"

Had there been a convenient trapdoor the poet would certainly have sunk through it.

How to Get Clean Roads.

Chauncey M. Depew is credited with this story of interest to cyclists: A suburban bicyclist was greatly annoyed by a stretch of road covered with loose stones, rocks and bowlders that lay between his office and his home. Wagons bumped along it, but seldom did a driver alight to throw on one side even the worst of the obstacles. One day the cyclist saw an elderly carter dismount and clear some of the stones. Thinking that such a good deed should not go unrewarded, he went quietly on ahead and placed a $5 bill under a big stone in the middle of the road. The benevolent carter promptly found it and noised his good luck abroad. Today, says Mr. Depew, you will not find on that road a loose pebble that would cover a five cent piece.

Old Stories From Young Lips.

Peter "Dooley" Dunne was in a New York uptown restaurant one evening when a very young man in the party insisted on telling stories, any one of which was old enough to vote. After the party had listened for a long time to these hoary anecdotes Peter turned to an acquaintance and said:

"Is it not strange that one so very young should tell stories so very old?"

Fertilizers Affect Seed Germination.

The department of agriculture has had many inquiries concerning the effect of commercial fertilizers on garden and farm seeds. A number of tests were inaugurated, and as a result it was shown that in many cases, if not in most, the application of fertilizers directly in the row at planting time is detrimental. It seems that the injury is caused by affecting the sprout after it has passed through the seed coat. Muriate of potash and nitrate of soda in strengths of 1 per cent or more are very detrimental to the germination of the seed whether applied directly or mixed with the soil used as a covering.

Fertilizers composed of phosphoric acid or lime are much less injurious than the above and, if not used in excess, may prove harmless. Commercial fertilizers should not be brought into direct contact with the seed in any event. In these tests the fertilizers were mixed with the seed or the soil in which the seed was planted. It is highly improbable that any of them, if applied in the usual way on top of the ground, actually favor germination.

Value of a Separator.

We are all satisfied nowadays that the separator is indispensable for the production of butter. Has it a use in preparing milk for the city market? I believe so. I think the separator will be quite generally used in a few years as a necessary part of milk production for the city market. Its use will mean cleaner milk. That is sufficient to establish its importance. But it will do more than simply cleaning the milk; it will make it possible for the dairyman to put on the market an article with a guaranteed per cent of butter fat. This enables the dairyman to obtain just what his product is worth.

If a customer wishes 3 per cent milk, or 4 or 5 or even 6 per cent milk, the producer can deliver such an article. The enterprising dairyman will see the force of this suggestion. Many consumers care more for quality than quantity. You can get their trade. Those who care more for quantity than quality will buy of you because you are giving a satisfactory product at no fancy price.—Professor C. M. Burkett, North Carolina Experiment Station.

Raise Food at Home.

We must raise more of our food at home and pay out less cash. That applies not to all but to many farmers. It has come to be a habit to patronize the butcher, grocer and baker until a good share of the food on some farms is grown, baked or canned elsewhere. Cash is hard to earn at present prices of farm produce, and when we pay it out in this way we are forced to pay big profits to the handlers. We are sometimes told that it costs more in the end to grow food on the farm, but that is not always so, because the extra labor has no such cash value as the money we pay out of our pocket. With many of us the time has come when we must reduce cash expenses as far as possible and utilize farm labor and, if possible, unsalable products in providing food to eat and sell. Some of us are trying to do special crop farming on farms that ought to be used for a great variety of crops.—

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—After years of experience, we have discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by a new method. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation and correspondence free and strictly confidential.

OUR MEDICATED BOUGIE NEVER FAILS TO CURE.

THE FRANCE URETHRAL TREATMENT is a medicated Bougie for the cure of Stricture and all forms of Diseases of the Bladder, Urethra, and Prostate Gland. The Bougies are inserted into the urethral canal upon retiring at night, they slip into position without the slightest effort, requiring a short time to dissolve. They act like a mild electric current, invigorating and imparting vim and snap to the entire body. The curative effect is felt from the first application. Our special treatment completely dissolves the Stricture and permanently removes obstructions from the urinary passage.

Treatment by Correspondence. Each person applying for Medical Treatment should bring or send from two to four ounces of urine, which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination. We have cured hundreds of cases we have never seen. Write for book of 100 pages and list of 500 questions. Correspondence, Consultation and Examination free and strictly confidential. No names published without written consent. Treatment sent by mail or express to any part of the United States.

Buy at Home.

When making your purchases always give Home products the preference. If you smoke, buy Newark cigars; when you order a sack of flour, call for Newark flour; when you need a suit of clothing, a pair of shoes, a hat, a bill of groceries, a silk dress, a new carpet, a stove or what not, buy it in Newark. Everytime you will get the best right here at home and at a reasonable price. Help to make Newark boom by buying in Newark. Keep Newark money in Newark and you will have a better chance to get a piece of it back than if you send it to Columbus, Chicago or elsewhere. Do your buying at home.

PENNSYLVANIA LINES.

One way second class colonist tickets to the West and Northwest will be sold at special fares via Pennsylvania lines during March and April, 1902. Particular information about fares through time and other details will be furnished upon application to Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania lines.

WEDDING

Of Mr. Montgomery and Miss Toland Wednesday Night as Reported by the Coshocton Age.

The Coshocton Age published the following notice of the Montgomery-Toland wedding which was announced in the Advocate yesterday:

A pretty home wedding was that of Miss Allie Toland and Mr. Thaddeus L Montgomery, which took place on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. J W. Toland, on Walnut street. The prominence of the contracting parties made the event one of delightful interest to their large circle of admiring friends. The bride is possessed of accomplishments and beauty and is a favorite in this city. Mr. Montgomery is one of Coshocton's most active and successful business men; is cashier of the Coshocton National bank and a director of the board of trade.

The rooms were profusely decorated with pink roses, smilax and palms. The marriage took place in the library, with the ring ceremony, which was pronounced by the Rev. J. W. Toland, D D., father of the bride. The bride wore a handsome gown of white mousseline and lace and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. A wedding feast was served and each guest was the recipient of a dainty souvenir box of bride's cake.

The guests included only the immediate families and a few close friends Mr. and Mrs M. Q. Baker, Miss Nellie Cooper, Miss Louise Glover and Mr. Frank A. G. Lawrence of this city. Those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Montgomery, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson, of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Toland and little son of New Philadelphia; Mrs. Ida M. Chase and daughter, Miss Helen, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Griggs and Miss Howells, of Cleveland.

Dr. and Mrs. Toland would have been pleased to have had present all the members of the congregation for which he is pastor, but the membership is so large that not all could gather at the home, and on this account it was decided to treat all alike and their invitations were extended only to immediate relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery left on Pan Handle No. 20 for a wedding tour through eastern cities, among others, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York. They will return about April 1 and take up their home in the handsome cottage on North Fourth that is all ready for their occupancy.

LICKING COUNTY

IN OHIO THE GARDEN LAND OF THE WORLD.

So Says the American Sportsman—Fine Horses Raised in This Section of Ohio.

Licking county, Ohio, is destined to become one of the greatest breeding centers in Ohio It is already stocked with some of the best bred stallions in the state, although there is no large stock farm devoted exclusively to the breeding of trotters located in the county. By reading our advertising pages you will discover five well bred stallions advertisel, located at or near Newark. The climate and soil of Licking county is well adapted to breeding high class horses and it is gratifying to note that all of the worthy gentlement now engaged in the industry are doing well. Even early in the nineteenth century the locality of Newark and Granville was regarded as the loveliest spot in the then wilderness of Ohio. As early as 1804 a company was formed in Granville, Mass., called the Scioto Company the third of that name that made settlements in Ohio. One of the younger members of the colony after locating near Newark, Ohio, on Licking Creek, wrote a poem, of which the following is a specimen:

"Great storms of snow: cold winds that blow,
We scarce could undergo.
And hence we left New England's hills
For the pleasant Ohio.
Adiep, old friends: come on my dears,
The journey may be slow.
But settle here on Licking Creek,
In pleasant Ohio."

And today Licking county, in the heart of Ohio, is the garden land of the world. No wonder they love good things, especially good horses.

AN OPEN LETTER

To People of Ohio on a Certain Species of Cruelty Permitted in That State.

For many years, to a greater or less extent, the practice of shooting live pigeons from traps has been carried on in this State, and thousands of pigeons have been slaughtered, tortured and maimed under the guise of "sport."

Men who are caught causing two dogs to fight are arrested. Punishment is given to those who have a hand in cock fighting; and there is a law also against the catching of birds by means of traps. Yet, there is nothing upon the Statute Books of this State which prevents the killing, wounding and maiming of hundreds of helpless birds in a single day by men who would be ashamed to be found at a cock fight or a dog fight.

To anyone who has ever seen live birds shot from traps, the marksman standing at a distance of from 27 to 30 yards from the trap, the dazed condition in which the bird arises, the marksman standing ready to shoot and using the second barrel if he misses the first, the impression made is that it is not a legitimate test of marksmanship, but a cold blooded or thoughtless slaughter, and I believe that a genuine sportsman would discourage and condemn it. If the pigeon is instntly killed it is not so bad, but many escape maimed, a wing or leg broken, perhaps partly disemboweled, but with strength enough to fly beyond the bounds, and reach a distance from which they are never recovered, and there die in the slow torture of pain or hunger or cold.

This sport (?) furnishes perhaps a little idle amusement and excitement, perhaps a little chance for gambling and betting, and may add a little profit to the various powder and sporting goods manufacturing concerns, but it disgraces the great State of Ohio; it gives pain to nine-tenths of the people of the State and it inflicts suffering upon thousands of helpless, beautiful and innocent birds every year. It is time for it to cease.

We are not asking to abolish trap shooting, a legitimate and commendable sport, where the inanimate target or clay pigeon is used. We only ask that harmless live birds shall not be used as targets and mangled and torn to pieces.

The effect of this cruelty upon the lads who are employed to feed the birds into the traps and to club to death or wring the necks of the wounded ones, is something that the State cannot afford to overlook. Let us abolish a practice so brutal, inexcusable and indefensible. How can we do it? That is the purpose of this letter.

Mr. Brannock of Clermont county, has introduced a bill in the Ohio Legislature, which, if passed, will make it illegal to shoot live pigeons from traps in the State of Ohio.

Write to the member of the Assembly and Senate from your district and ask him to vote for it. See that he does it or remember him at the next election. Protest against this brutal practice. If the members of the Legislature understand clearly and unmistakably that the people of Ohio want this bill passed, it will pass though there will be a lobby working against it, and there was in New York last spring when it was defeated. But this last month in the Assembly of New York State it was passed by a vote of 119 to 9, and in the Senate by a vote of 31 to 6 and promptly signed by Governor O'Dell, because the people, aided powerfully by the press of New York, demanded it.

Many years ago it was abolished in Massachusetts. A bill is pending in New Jersey to end the practice, and in other states the matter is being agitated. Let Ohio speak in no uncertain voice and drive this brutal, deplorable, and indefensible practice from her borders.

Secretary Cleveland Humane Society.

EXTENSION

Of Gas Mains Will Furnish Work for a Large Number of People at Columbus.

(Columbus Press.)

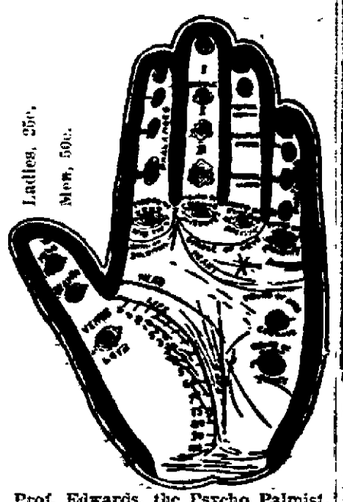

As a result of the meeting of the company controlling the local Natural Gas company, hundreds of men will be given employment during the summer, laying the mains and making house connections for the new business that is to come when the Licking and Knox county fields are tapped. It is the purpose of the company to proceed to lay the mains to these fields as soon as the material can be secured, and it is expected that the lines will be completed by next winter.

These lines are for feeders to the North End system and the shortage there is to be remedied before cold weather comes again. General Superintendent J. O. Johnson said the company was not prepared to state whether lateral mains would be laid in streets in Columbus not having the service, but he said that the new mains would permit them to put on more people along streets where lines are already laid. If pressure and quantity are sufficient, it is probable many people will be reached by the popular fuel who could not heretofore get the service.
